

Continuing Education Credits Available
at the North Dakota Library Association 102nd Annual Conference

One OR two continuing education credits through Valley City State University (which will apply toward Library Media Specialist credential renewal and the Current Issues strand) will be available by attending the NDLA Conference.

If you are interested in earning LMIS 700 Continuing Education credits for your attendance at the conference, you will need to:

- 1) register for the conference [details at <http://www.ndla.info/Conference/08conf.htm>] and,
- 2) register for the course. You will register for the course when you arrive at the conference in Mandan. [Please have a check ready, payable Valley City State University Continuing Education. [Cost: 1 credit = $50; 2 credits = $100]. In this location we cannot accept/process credit cards for the university.]

EXPECTATIONS

To earn 1 credit, you must register for the conference and choose one of the following attendance options:

- 1) Attend the half-day pre-conference and one full day of the conference
- 2) Attend the half-day post-conference and one full day of the conference
- 3) Attend two full days of the conference

To earn 2 credits, you must register for and attend the pre-conference, two full days of the conference and the post-conference.

At the conference and after you register for the class, you will be issued a course packet which will contain an Attendance Verification Card, a schedule of break-out sessions which apply toward the CE Track of the conference and professional reading. You will be responsible to obtain each presenter's signature to verify attendance at break-out sessions. There are two options for the course project:

- 1) participate in a blog during the conference to share what you have seen/heard OR
- 2) write and submit a reflection paper following the conference. Once you are registered, your instructor will meet with you to discuss the details.
