

NDLA Web Committee Annual Report - #27
September 26, 2007

A major NDLA web site project this year was the transition from hosting the site on a state owned web server to a commercial web server. The idea of using a commercial web hosting service was initially discussed at the September 20, 2006 Executive Board Meeting. Following several months of research and discussion, the NDLA Executive Board selected Lunarpages as the organization's new web host at the March 6, 2007 board meeting. The NDLA web site was brought up on a Lunarpages web server in May 2007. The Lunarpages hosting plan included a free domain name, so ndlaonline.org was selected as a secondary domain name for the site. Any of the following URLs will now link users to the NDLA web site:

<http://www.ndla.info>
<http://www.ndlaonline.org>
<http://ndla.info>
<http://ndlaonline.org>

The following updates and additions were made to the NDLA web site between July and September 2007.
