

3. NDLA Past President's Report March 2008

Articles promoting the Librarian of the Year Award and the Benefactor of the Year Award have appeared in the last two issues of The Good Stuff. So far, no nominations for either award have been received. I will try to freshen up this article to highlight the awards again in the next issue.

I have reviewed the exhibitor information passed on to me by Jeanne Narum. From that I have compiled a list of potential vendors with their contact information. I will be drafting a letter to send to prospective vendors to be mailed later in March/early April. At this week's Exec. Board meeting I would like to verify exhibitor registration fees prior to sending out this information.

Two years ago Charles Pace distributed flyers promoting the NDLA conference on the exhibits floor of ALA Midwinter. I did not get an updated version made earlier, but I will also have such flyers with me to distribute to vendors at the PLA conference later this month. If there are any particular vendors or products that you would like to see represented at NDLA, please let me know and we can reach out to them.

Respectfully submitted,

Beth E. Postema
